To: The editor of Forestry Ideas

I would like to submit our manuscript entitled "IMPROVED PERFORMANCE OF A MODIFIED YSD-UNIB SOLAR DRYER IN DRYING WASTE BRANCHES OF ACACIA MANGIUM WILLD AND FALCATARIA MOLLUCANA MIQ. FOR CHARCOAL PRODUCTION" for the publication in the Forestry Ideas journal (see attachment).

In the manuscript we describe that, the University of Bengkulu in the last decade developed a mixed-mode solar dryer called the YSD-UNIB solar dryer. To improve its performance, the rectangular chimney running lengthwise to the dryer was replaced with a square, centered chimney, producing a modified YSD-UNIB solar dryer (MSD). Our study compared the performance of MSD with that of an earlier model. Our study also compared moisture content and drying time of bark and wood chips of A. mangium and F. mollucana branches in open sun drying (OSD) and the MSD.

The MSD with its modified centered chimney showed clear improvements in drying efficiency over the original YSD-UNIB solar dryer. Its ability to dry wood chips to 10% moisture content in 12.00 hours and 5.43 hours for A. mangium and F. mollucana wood respectively, while OSD took 10 days demonstrates its potential in pre-processing waste F. mollucana branches for subsequent charcoal production.

Thank you very much in advance for your kind cooperation, and I am looking for your comments.

Sincerely yours,
Ridwan Yahya

Please add further comments below

In this paper the authors compared the performance of a modified YSD-UNIB mixed-mode solar dryer (MSD) with that of an earlier model. The authors also compared moisture content and drying time of bark and wood chips of A. mangium and F. moluccana branches in Open sun drying (OSD) and the MSD.

The results appear to be scientifically sound. I recommend the paper for publication after some modifications:

1)The Introduction could be improved somewhat: the authors must highlight the innovation of the work. The last paragraph of the introduction does not clearly justify the motivation of the research study.

2)It is benefit for the reader if the authors can compare the hourly variation of temperature and humidity in the drying chamber and outside, since the mean values are not very representative.

3)It is advisable to review the conclusions. Please add more quantitative results

Dear Ridwan,

We received the third review for your improved manuscript (R2 attached). It is positive and contains useful remarks and recommendations. Please make the necessary improvements as recommended by reviewer R3 and your view as authors. Just for unacceptable recommendations, provide brief motives.

Please work on the last file of your manuscript (attached now).

This reviewer (R2) reacted very quickly. I have invited others for reviewers, but so far I have no answer from them. If one of the others agrees, I will inform you (this will be clear within days). If there are no other reviews, these 3 so far are enough and we will continue the process of publishing.

Dear Prof Milko Milev
Editor in Chief of the journal "Forestry Ideas"

I read this article down to the bibliography very carefully. There are several improvements:

1. We changed "OSD" to "ODW" (see page 4, in the 21-370-Ridwan Yahya-final revised version)
2. We removed the "drying characteristics of Empty Fruit Bunches (EFB)" (see page 210 in the file 21-370-M, PDF version), because it was not found in the previous file (see page 7, in the 21-370-Ridwan Yahya-final revised version). We also changed "wood" to "biomaterial" (see page 7 in the 21-370-Ridwan Yahya-final revised version), to suit the content of the article Sulaiman et al. 2013
3. We swapped the position from "width x length x thickness" to "length x width x thickness" (see page 3 in the 21-370-Ridwan Yahya-final revised version)
4. We changed "" to "" in Table 2 page 6 in the 21-370-Ridwan Yahya-final revised version), because the 0.01 level must be marked "" and 0.05 must be marked "". This corresponds to the previous file for R2 (see Revised version 21-370-Ridwan Yahya-R2)

Once again, thank you very much for your kindness.

Sincerely yours,
Ridwan Yahya

Dear Prof Milko Milev
Editor in Chief of the journal "Forestry Ideas"

We read very carefully, we found that:

1). The 2 words "branches" should be omitted on page 8 of revised version 21730-Ridwan Yahya-final), because Nawawi et al 2018 in their article did not say explicitly that the research material was the branches of A. mangium and F. Moluccana (see the abstract of Nawawi et al article) . I apologize for this.

2). I'm sorry, I suspect that the red characters in the words "Fig.1" (page 206) and "Table 1" (page 208), "Table 2" (page 209), "Fig. 2a, Fig. 2b and Figures 2c and 2d", and "Table 2" (page 210) (see the PDF version 21-370n) are only part of the "proofreading process". The red character will be removed in the final article.

Today I am going to the bank to ask for the method of transferring the article publication fees according to your instructions. I will send the publication fee to the address:

University of Forestry – NIS, 10 Kliment Ohridski Blvd., Sofia 1797, BULGARIA
IBAN BG39BNBG96613100104501, BNB BANK – CU Sofia, BIC: BNBGBGSF
About: Forestry Idea

I ask you to correct if something is wrong, regarding the address for the transfer of the publication fee.

Thank you for your help and kindness,
Sincerely yours,
Ridwan

OK Ridwan,
1/ Both words "branches" will be removed.
2/ Yes, the reds are only a temporary indication of whether the tables and figures are arranged correctly.

Milko

Dear Prof Milko Milev
Editor in Chief of the journal "Forestry Ideas"

Thank you for the corrected PDF.

I went to the bank office to inquire about the technical delivery of the publication fee for the article to be published by Forestry Ideas yesterday. The bank staff asked me to fill out the REMITTANCE APPLICATION (see attachment 1). I tried to fill it (see attachment 2).

Regarding the attachment 2, please help me to:

1. write "Acc. No" and SWIFT code
2. Check the data for "BENEFICIARY" and "Details of payment" are correct or not.

I will pay the transfer fee, so the bank staff will ensure that you will receive the total amount indicated in Euros (100 Euros)

Thank you for your help and kindness,

Sincerely yours,
Ridwan
